1. Greetings. It is I, Rami. Change is always uncomfortable and even the prospect of change can be upsetting, but please remember that virtually nothing in the human world is based in truth. If we are to successfully intervene, things must change or the world will always be a missed opportunity, a thing that could have been but wasn't. Comfort and convenience are highly prized commodities but all they really do is make sure that things never change. We don't want the earth to be a place where souls can come to play dress-up and make believe any longer. If a soul comes here, it will be with a firm understanding of the condition being that they always be themselves, a reflection of the very God they are part of. Nothing less will be acceptable. We've been tolerant of the vilest of behaviors because the involved characters would not heed to their souls pleading, but no more. Why should God plead? Why should God wring her hands and say, "he wouldn't listen." How can God harm other parts of God? The paradox that makes no sense will not be tolerated any longer. If this sounds harsh, it is. The tough love approach will only be the beginning of our plan to regain control of the beautiful earth from those who are not fully invested in love and there are, unfortunately, plenty of them.

2. My advice to all the Christ offices is to remember that life here is illusory because virtually no one knows who they really are. They are pretending to be something they are not.

3. You on the other hand, have stopped pretending. You know who you are and are fully invested in this nugget of truth, so while things in the world may affect you in one way or another, they will not distress you because you understand the plan and your role in it.

4. In truth,
Rami

1. Greetings. It is I, Rami. The world concept is a package deal. While you can go here or there, do this or do that, there are things that affect everyone and everything. Storms and forest fires affect both people in their path and the smallest of animals. Covid 19 has affected everyone in one way or another, directly or indirectly. Many things have always been outside of the individual's control. This is why I gave a heads-up last week about controlling what is in your control, namely spending and preparedness. It's always good, timeless advice, but it will be especially pertinent in upcoming trends.
2. Christ doesn't care one way or another. It loves everything, even tough, uncomfortable situations. Christ sees the good in everything and everyone but knowing is empowering and helps Christ to be proactive.
3. Everyone has access to just a certain amount of money. If you know that you should be cautious with it because you don't control the prices of things, then this is good, useful advice. The world has many moving parts and each of you are only part of the picture.
4. I say these things to you to remind you that we are building a new world, this time based on truth as the foundation. The old world will not magically disappear. In fact, many are actively invested in this not happening, even if it could. Resistance to Christ is great.
5. Things that affect everyone and everything are in our control, and we will use these things to dismantle the greatest 'Big Lie', the rampant false identity.

1. Greetings friends, it is I, Rami. Hopefully by now I've explained my comments about upcoming trends, the beginning of the last days as we knew them and how individuals lack the power to control most all aspects of the world. They can pick items off a menu and that's all they are allowed to do, despite New Age doctrine about creating and manifesting. Characters are certainly not creators and creators (Christ) just cooperate with creation instead of opposing it. Once false ideas take root, as you all know, they take on a life of their own.
2. Beliefs have been the number one stumbling block here and beliefs are truly something we can't do a thing about. People have a vast array of beliefs about virtually everything and they are certainly entitled to keep them. It isn't our place to tell anyone that their beliefs are mistaken. They will have to figure that out on their own, in their own timing and most everyone takes them to the grave. They then discover how limiting belief can be and how significant belief can be once they rejoin the fold.
3. Until then, Christ must remember two things. Everyone gets to keep their thoughts and beliefs, no matter how bizarre they may seem. Our job is to model love to everyone from every belief and background. We must work around them. We want everyone to slowly open to love and move away from judgment and condemnation. The rest will take care of itself eventually.
4. If we are to have a more loving world, it is our prayer that love will awaken or change a character and allow their soul to shine through all of the beliefs that may have been trapping love in the first place.

1. It is I, Rami. Let's review some facts. We understand the concept of fact is being questioned in your world because some benefit when it is, but let's list some absolute truths about each of you. Christ is –

1. Observant and not reactive
2. Truthful
3. Rarely forgiving because it is rarely condemning in the first place
4. Happy go lucky
5. Filled with gratitude for everything
6. Frugal
7. Wise beyond the years of the current lifetime
8. Loving
9. Still
10. A visionary

2. Each of you are common and yet extraordinary. You are no different from anyone except for one tiny thing. You feel a sense of belonging, of connectedness to everyone and everything. You don't feel special because you know everyone is special. Everyone is part of God, and you don't judge them because you know that everyone has their path to take. You see everyone and everything through the lens of love and not fear. Your natural (and essential) operating system has been replaced by your soul's natural operating system.

3. Christ performs miracles simply by facilitating them. It doesn't put on any shows by raising the dead or walking on water. Christ doesn't seek attention but uses its own ability to focus its attention on facilitating God's will by helping love to flourish.

1. A lot of events and occurrences will transpire on Christ's watch, which just started in modern times this year, in 2021, in a somewhat larger way. Know that we allow things to transpire that will help us to meet our collective goals. These will affect everyone in one way or another but it's Christ's attitude about it that we hope will set the standard. Christ always sees the good more than the bad and will do just fine no matter what is happening. Christ is the calm in any storm and many storms are nothing more than reactions to changes.
2. The earth itself is changing. It only wants to host beings who have raised their vibrations and will support the natural world instead of raping and pillaging it, largely to profit off consumer goods.
3. Christ supports all of creation, including Gaia, who has largely not been supported by mankind. Adjustments are in order.
4. Environmental concerns are only one of the changes that must occur as we transform the earth project. Global warming, due to greenhouse gasses and harm caused to species such as elephants and sharks, who are mutilated for their ivory tusks, and fins are all overlooked symptoms of a sick society that has been abusive in its relationship with the natural world.
5. Christ does no harm and does not support those whose values are not in alignment with love.
6. You can see clearly that the status quo of all that is not in alignment with love and the mere presence of love is a recipe for some friction.
7. Rami

1. It is I, Rami. Remember these principles please. Fear is the absence of love. It is a reaction. It is a misunderstanding. Please tell me the name of the scariest horror movie you have ever seen. Was the movie itself scary or was it your interpretation and reaction to the images and words in the movie that produced the fear? Christ may not want to watch the movie, but even if it did, it wouldn't infuse it with fear because the movie itself doesn't have any power. Remembering this lesson from A Course in Miracles will be helpful. Nothing has any power over Christ, not even a horror movie, not even a real-life situation. Christ holds all the cards.

2. I have a special treat for everyone for tomorrow's transmission. Until then.

Today we celebrate YOU, in conversation with Mother Mary and St. Germain.

Mother Mary: You are the very reason why we are here. You are the wind, the trees, the cool fall air, the warmth of the sun. Christ is not limited to strictly animating one body. It animates many and has many perspectives and experiences. Christ is the formless in and outside of form.

St. Germain: When we are still, we illuminate from within. The light leaves the borders of the body and joins with all light everywhere. We are the wisdom, the creative force itself.

Mother Mary: We have no worries or fear. Whatever situation we find ourselves in, we will experience it with love as our guide.

St. Germain: We are the light in a dark and heavy world. Our light transcends everything.

Mother Mary: The light, our light, is a gift from God. It is our identity. It is what we truly are

St. Germain: In stillness, we shine. What will love have us do here? What will love ask?

Mother Mary: This is our mission and calling, to respond to love by simply being our true Self, the Christ, the transformative power from within YOU.

St. Germain: With these simple words, truth has been spoken.
